

Mike started his career with Longview Fibre Company, which produces linerboard and corrugated containers for the packaging industry. He was a technical sales representative covering eastern Idaho and handling accounts such as Lamb Weston, and General Mills. After Longview Fibre, Mike moved to West Coast Paper and worked his way up to a division manager, where he was responsible for operations, sales, customer service and warehousing and was able to grow the business 20% year over year for multiple years. Family health issues required him to relocate back to Idaho Falls, where in 2008 he took a job at ATR in project engineering. At ATR, he gained his PMP and his responsibilities grew to manage the reactor core internal procurements and major maintenance projects at ATR. In 2016, he came to MFC to work as the nuclear acquisitions manager, where he enjoys learning about and assisting the many missions of MFC.
